Macakizi is glamorous, sexy and fabulous. But it's also very laidback, which means the charming staff couldn't give a monkeys if you're Kate Moss (who's a regular) or just an average Joe.

Initially, Ayla Emiroğlu established a residence and a private beach in 1977 in Bodrum. With a keen eye for all things tranquil and natural; she created a haven for all guests.

Ayla's original aim was to create an inspiring environment for writers, painters, and other intellectuals, which continued to evolve and grow, along with Bodrum, throughout the years. The seeds of the Maçakızı concept continues to flourish with the vision and contemporary mind of Ayla's son, Sahir.

Since the very beginning, this fascinating place exuded authenticity, beauty and peace; all qualities are shared with the surrounding region. The Mausoleum at Halicarnassus, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world, is to be found here and the medieval castle of Saint Peter overlooks the port of Bodrum, built by the Order of Saint John of Jerusalem.

"Sahir Erozan has created ... a world of its own, splashed against the sparkling waters of the sea and embraced by a new international jet set of sophisticated travelers, from Manhattan real estate wizards and French media stars to the occasional Kennedy and the opulently tanned and white-bikini'd beach princesses from Kazakhstan and Cairo" Departures Magazine

"...Macakizi, the sine qua non of Bodrum boutique hotels in the chic enclave of Türkbükü on the North coast, where a coterie of immaculate beauties provides eye candy for the watchful hedonist jostling for a position at the bar" Harpers' Bazaar
