DID YOU KNOW?

Adriatic Luxury Hotels, in partnership with one of the finest wineries from the Pelješac region (Skaramuča family winery), have selected a premium plot to grow a limited variety of Plavac Mali grape to create a special Dingač Reserve 2010 (Limited Vintage), which is exclusively sold at their hotels and villas.

Health conscious guests will delight in the hotel's Lean & Light restaurant on the 10th floor, serving raw foods, smoothies, fish and salads, overlooking the Elaphite islands.

The hotel's VIP Wing offers special treatments, including a separate private entrance, private parking access, private secluded terrace and access to Vala Club – the VIP beach. It has become a favoured spot for visiting celebrities such as John Malkovich, former US Vice President Dick Cheney, Nick Nolte and members of the Saudi royal family.

Over 1000 original works of art by Croatia's most prominent artists feature throughout the hotel. Quirky art gallery Luna+Sol on the 7th floor overlooks the Adriatic and displays contemporary art by renowned local and international artists.

The hotel can arrange cultural tours, island cruises, scuba diving, motor and sail boats, water sports, panorama flights, horse-riding and more.

Hotel Dubrovnik Palace is home to Croatia's Blue Planet PADI Diving Centre – a PADI licensed professional centre offering a range of diving courses, including beginners' lessons, children's courses, professional dives and night dives.

There are many impressive underwater reefs and opportunities for wall and cave dives in the area, as well as the popular Taranto wreck nearby.

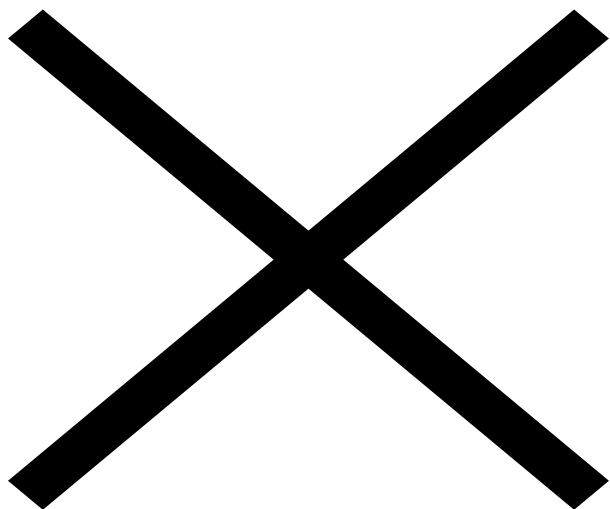

From this idyllically positioned hotel, guests are perfectly placed to discover little known areas of the Dubrovnik Riviera, including the green hills and naked stone of the Konavle region – meaning 'Valley of Beauty' – and the Pelješac wine region.
