KEY FACTS

Rooms are housed in 53 individual riads, each with a private roof terrace and its own plunge pool. Larger riads also have a Bedouin tent, open fire and private hammams. A personal 24 hour butler service is available in the Privilege Riads upwards.

3* Michelin Chef Yannick Alleno supervises 3 of the 4 restaurants at Royal Mansour: La Grande Table Marocaine, La Table and outdoor restaurant Le Jardin. In December 2019, Royal Mansour opened new Italian fine dining restaurant SESAMO, spearheaded by 3 Michelin starred Italian chef Massimiliano Alajmo.

Royal Mansour has created an oasis for its guests including fragrant landscaped gardens, a large swimming pool and seven pavilions that can be rented as day rooms. The highlight of this development is an outdoor restaurant, open to the gardens and pool where breakfast, lunch and dinner - a menu of Asian-inspired dishes, sushi and delicately flavoured grilled sharing plates - is offered at sunny and shaded tables.

Le Spa at Royal Mansour is a haven of tranquility whose central filigree wrought iron atrium evokes an exquisite bird cage. An extensive treatment list offers head to toe pampering, the jewel of which is Royal Mansour's signature hammam treatments which blend tradition with the unparalleled comfort and latest spa products to create an experience that leaves guests feeling relaxed and renewed

In 2020, Royal Mansour was recognised by Conde Nast Traveler's Readers' Choice Awards as the #1 Hotel in Africa and Travel + Leisure's World Best Awards as the #2 Hotel in North Africa and the Middle East. The hotel was also the recipient of Morocco's Best Hotel Spa by World Spa Awards and Best Hammam Experience by World Luxury Spa Awards. Most recently, Leading Hotels of the World awarded Royal Mansour the 2020 Change-Makers Award recognising the hotel's continued support and involvement in their local community this year. Also, the Palace has been recognised as the Best Design Hotel in AFAR's Travelers' Awards: The Best Hotels in the World.

DID YOU KNOW?

Royal Mansour had hundreds of artisans working on site during the construction period, making much of the hotel entirely handmade

The distinctive and ingenious hotel design is exemplified by a labyrinthine series of underground tunnels to each of the 53 riads. They are accessed only by staff, guaranteeing the utmost privacy, discretion and seclusion, satisfying even the most high profile of guests

At Le Jardin restaurant, Yannick Alleno has created a menu of 60 recipes celebrating the great cuisines of the world, taking inspiration from the writings of 14th Century voyager Ibn Battuta who brought coal back to Morocco and introduced the technique of slow cooking to

Marrakech. As such, the playful menu explores flavours using the raw and the cooked and the marrying of the savoury and the sweet

The hotel features beautifully designed bars - Le Piano Bar boasts black and gold enamel walls and Le Bar is adorned with pink gold plate and a silver carved design on the ceiling

The team at Royal Mansour can arrange unforgettable ways for guests to discover the destination, from exploring the city by horse & carriage to private guides that will show the magical Medina's best secrets; from day visits to the Atlas Mountains to Bedouin tented dinners under the stars; from riding camels across the sand dunes to watching the sun rise over the Sahara from a hot air balloon
